THE MASTER FOUNDATIONAL CHARTER & MANIFESTO

of The Anarchist Confederation (TAC)

Foundational document

PART I: THE MANIFESTO OF THE ANARCHIST CONFEDERATION

I. The Crisis of Power

We live in an era dominated by authoritarian state machinery, capitalist exploitation, and rising fascist reaction. Corporate digital monopolies enclose the online commons, while imperial states enforce economic and social coercion offline. Liberation cannot be built on the tools of top-down domination, vanguardist dictatorships, or market hierarchy.

II. Our Answer: Federated Anti-Authoritarianism

We reject both the capitalist market and the totalizing state. The Anarchist Confederation arises not as a centralized political party or ruling body, but as a living web of voluntary cooperation. We assert that true freedom requires economic equality, direct democracy, and absolute self-determination.

III. Digital & Physical Mutual Defense

Digital spaces are modern workplaces, organizing grounds, and social squares. TAC exists to build decentralized infrastructure that resists state surveillance, fascist raiding, corporate censorship, and platform tyranny through shared solidarity, collective intelligence, and mutual defense.

IV. The Call to Organize

To every radical server, worker council, mutual aid group, and independent collective: power is not seized—it is dismantled and replaced with federated community control. Organize your node, adopt the emblem, build horizontal networks, and join the confederation.

PART II: THE FOUNDATIONAL CHARTER

Section I. Preamble & Purpose

The Anarchist Confederation (TAC) is a decentralized, voluntary, free association of independent digital servers, physical collectives, labor unions, and individuals committed to libertarian socialism, anti-authoritarianism, and mutual aid.

TAC exists to facilitate solidarity, resource sharing, platform defense, and collective organization without establishing a central authority, hierarchy, or mandatory command structure.

Section II. Official Insignia, Flags, & Symbols

Official Confederation Round Insignia — circular TAC seal.

Official Confederation Round Insignia

- Design: A circular seal featuring a diagonal red-and-black bisected field with a yellow border, stamped with the bold white lettering T□C, integrating the classic circled anarchist "A" into the center letter.
- Usage: Serves as the primary icon, server avatar, and digital badge for main hubs, official documents, and node directories.

Anarcho-Syndicalist Cog Flag

- Design: A rectangular flag bisected diagonally with red (socialism/libertarian solidarity) on the upper-left and black (anarchism/anti-statism) on the lower-right, featuring a central white industrial cog surrounding the circled "A".
- Usage: Represents TAC's worker-led unionism, labor organization, and technical/infrastructure collectives.

Mutual Defense Shield Flag Variant

- Design: The core anarcho-syndicalist cog flag updated with dual protective corner shields (green/orange on the bottom-left and magenta/purple on the top-right).
- Usage: Symbolizes federated moderation defense, server security, technical resilience, and digital platform protection.

Section III. Mandatory Text Emblem Format

All constituent servers, institutions, and affiliated collectives must display the official federation title format in their server name, header, or primary public bio:

Official Examples:

- European International Branch: ✯T□C ✯Kropotkin European International (16+) ✯ □□
- Labor & Workplace Union: ✯T□C ✯Worker-Owned Systems Union ✯ □□
- Mutual Aid Collective: ✯T□C ✯Cascadia Solidarity Network ✯ □□

Section IV. Core Governance Principles

- Voluntary Association & Free Dissociation: Any node or partner joins voluntarily and retains the complete right to leave at any time without penalty.
- Non-Reactionary Anti-Authoritarianism: Opposition to all forms of oppression, including state power, capitalism, fascism, bigotry, hierarchy, and reactionary ideologies.
- Decentralization & Server Autonomy: No central server, master admin, or governing body holds authority over individual confederation nodes.
- Cause & Effect Accountability: Freedom of speech does not mean freedom from consequences. Autonomy and expression within the confederation exist within a framework of accountability to community safety and anti-reactionary principles.
- Mutual Aid & Solidarity: Nodes support one another through shared moderation intelligence, technical infrastructure, resource coordination, and collective action.

Section V. Membership Tiers & Requirements

1. Full Confederation Membership (Full Nodes & Branches)

Full members are core constituent servers, unions, or branches of TAC.

- Emblem Requirement: Mandatory inclusion of the ✯T□C ✯[Name] ✯ □□ text string in server/group titles.
- Governance Rights: Participation in federated decision-making via recallable, mandate-bound delegates and access to shared infrastructure.
- Branch Autonomy: Any group or region may establish specialized branches (e.g., regional hubs, trade unions, sector collectives) using the mandatory naming standard.

2. Associate Membership (Partnership)

Designed for aligned communities, institutions, or partner servers seeking solidarity and mutual cross-promotion without full structural integration.

- Inclusion Mandate: Must actively promote inclusion and structural equity rather than exclusionary or discriminatory practices.
- Anti-Racism / Anti-Fascism Policy: Must strictly prohibit and reject racist ideologies, Nazism, white supremacy, and all fascist or reactionary tendencies.
- Thematic Alignment: Must fit the core focus of the network—such as leftist politics, rigorous debate, secularism, LGBTQ+ liberation, or anti-authoritarian philosophy.
- Minimum Activity Threshold: Must maintain a minimum of 5 active members to ensure genuine community viability and engagement.

Section VI. Ideological Framework & Eligibility

1. Explicitly Allowed Ideologies (Permitted Frameworks)

- Classical & Social Anarchism: Anarcho-Communism, Anarcho-Syndicalism, Collectivist Anarchism, Mutualism, Synthesis, and Platformism.
- Councilism & Communalism: Council Communism (anti-vanguardist worker councils), Communalism, and Democratic Confederalism (Murray Bookchin / Rojavan municipal model).
- Libertarian Socialism & Non-Authoritarian Marxism: Stateless socialist tendencies, Autonomist Marxism, Situationism, and non-vanguardist Marxism.
- Prosocial & Non-Reactionary Egoism: Max Stirner’s egoism and its modern offshoots that reject abstract spooks (State, Capital, dogma) to pursue conscious egoist union (Union of Egoists), mutual aid, individual liberation, and solidarity without slipping into reactionary or "might-makes-right" nihilism.
- Liberation & Social Philosophies: Eco-Anarchism, Social Ecology, Queer/Feminist/Anti-Racist Liberation, and Philosophical Anti-Authoritarianism (Liberation Theology, Buddhist/Daoist Anarchism, Secular Humanism).

2. Explicitly Banned Sects & Pseudo-Anarchisms (Zero Tolerance)

- "Anarcho"-Capitalism & Right-Wing "Libertarianism": Capitalist frameworks validating private ownership of production, wage labor hierarchy, landlords, or corporate domination.
- National-Anarchism & "Tribal" Anarchism: Neo-fascist, ethno-nationalist, and racially segregated co-optations of anarchist imagery.
- Anarcho-Fascism & "Third Positionism": Syncretic fascist movements using anti-statist rhetoric to mask white supremacy or totalitarian aims.
- Reactionary / Bigoted "Anarchism": Any self-described anarchist tendency promoting transphobia/TERFism, homophobia, misogyny, racism, antisemitism, Islamophobia, or xenophobia.

- Hyper-Individualist Social Darwinism & Anti-Social "Egoism": Nietzschean elitism, edge-lord nihilism, or "might-makes-right" philosophies used to validate predation, coercion, exploitation, or the oppression of others.
- Red-Brown & National-Bolshevik Co-Optations: Strasserist, Nazbol, or national-populist tendencies operating under an anti-state facade.

3. General Prohibited Ideologies

- Fascism, Nazism, & Neo-Nazism: Any white-supremacist, ethno-nationalist, or fascist movement.
- Authoritarian State Socialism (Vanguardism / ML): Marxism-Leninism, Maoism, Stalinism, or any doctrine advocating for vanguard parties, state dictatorship, or totalitarian central planning.

Section VII. Multilingual Accessibility & Operational Languages

To honor international solidarity, dismantle linguistic hierarchies, and ensure that workers, institutions, and autonomous nodes globally can organize without barriers, TAC recognizes a foundational set of official operational languages.

- Authorized Translation Standards: Core documents, charters, manifestos, and federation-wide announcements may be translated and published in any of the approved official languages.
- Official Languages List:
- English (English)
- Spanish (Español)
- French (Français)
- Italian (Italiano)
- German (Deutsch)
- Vietnamese (Tiếng Việt)
- Hindi (□□□□□)
- Mandarin Chinese (□□)
- Russian (Русский)
- Arabic (اللغة العربية)
- Maltese (Malti)
- Portuguese (Português)
- Dutch (Nederlands)
- Greek (Ελληνικά)
- Korean (□□□)
- Japanese (□□□)
- Afrikaans (Afrikaans)
- Zulu (isiZulu)
- Mongolian (Монгол хэл)
- Lao (ພາສາລາວ)
- Horizontal Translation Collectives: Local branches, regional nodes, or translation working groups may autonomously produce regional localized editions of TAC materials in these languages, provided they preserve the core meaning, anti-authoritarian principles, and spirit of this Charter.

Section VIII. The Supervision Council (Compliance & External Liaison)

To maintain structural integrity, officiate new member nodes, and handle external relations without violating decentralization or exercising command authority, TAC establishes a voluntary Supervision Council.

Core Mandate & Limitations (Non-Command Authority):

- Procedural Compliance Only: The Council holds zero command authority over individual servers, nodes, or members. It cannot dictate policy, force operational decisions, or override local node autonomy.
- Constitutional Watchdog: Its sole duty is to ensure that all affiliated nodes and associate partners meet the criteria outlined in this Charter and Manifesto.

Key Responsibilities:

- Officiating Members & Partnerships: Reviewing incoming applications for Full Membership and Associate Partnership, verifying activity thresholds (such as the 5-member minimum), and confirming ideological alignment.
- Directory Maintenance: Managing the official registry of active nodes, verified partner servers, and localized branches displaying the mandatory emblem (✯T□C ✯[Name] ✯ □□).
- External Liaison & Diplomacy: Serving as the primary point of contact for external communication, solidarity statements with outside anti-authoritarian organizations, and public outreach.
- Mediation & Review: Investigating reports of charter breaches (such as the harboring of reactionary ideologies or harassment) and presenting findings back to the wider confederated network for peer-reviewed disaffiliation votes.

Accountability & Rotation:

- Recallable Delegates: Members of the Supervision Council are selected as mandate-bound, recallable delegates from various participating nodes.
- Term Limits & Rotation: To prevent bureaucratic ossification or the accumulation of entrenched power, council seats are subject to mandatory rotation and can be recalled or replaced by their home nodes at any time.

CHARTER GOVERNANCE AMENDMENTS

Amendment I — Constitutional Hierarchy & Scope

These provisions are incorporated as interpretive and procedural safeguards for the Charter, Manifesto, and Section VIII. The Charter remains the highest internal governing document; Council procedures and administrative forms must conform to it.

- Charter Supremacy: No SOP, Council decision, administrative form, or directory action may contradict the Charter or expand powers not expressly delegated by it.
- Procedural Administration: The Supervision Council administers federation-wide procedures but does not govern the internal affairs of autonomous nodes.
- No Self-Expansion of Authority: The Council may propose procedural amendments but may not unilaterally expand its jurisdiction, disciplinary authority, membership powers, or command authority.

Amendment II — Council Certification Rather Than Command Approval

Where an application satisfies published, objective membership requirements, the Council's function is procedural certification rather than political command.

- Routine Certification: The Council verifies submitted information against the Charter and records whether the published criteria are satisfied.
- Contested Cases: Where a substantive objection is raised, the matter is referred to the wider federated process rather than being resolved solely through Council authority.
- Directory Status: Directory inclusion records a federation-recognized membership status; it does not create authority for the Council over the member node.

Amendment III — Due Process for Compliance Reviews

A compliance review must distinguish fact-finding from final federation action.

- Notice: The affected node should receive notice of the allegation and the general evidence supporting the review, subject to legitimate privacy and security limits.
- Response: The affected node must have a reasonable opportunity to provide a response and relevant evidence.
- Evidence Standard: Findings should rely on documented organizational conduct, published rules, and verifiable evidence rather than speculation about private beliefs.
- Recusal: Delegates with a direct personal or organizational conflict of interest must not participate in the relevant review.
- Council Report: The Council presents factual findings and procedural recommendations; it does not unilaterally impose disaffiliation.
- Federated Decision: Disaffiliation or other major membership sanctions are decided through the wider peer-review process defined by the federation.
- Appeal/Reapplication: A disaffiliated node may request procedural review or later reapply under the then-current Charter criteria.

Amendment IV — Definition of Entryism

For purposes of membership review, entryism means deliberate infiltration of a member organization for the purpose of covertly replacing, subverting, or circumventing its established governance or membership principles.

- Political disagreement, ordinary ideological diversity, criticism of TAC, or advocacy for lawful constitutional amendment does not by itself constitute entryism.
- Any allegation of entryism must be supported by documented conduct and subject to the same notice, response, evidence, and recusal safeguards as other compliance reviews.

Amendment V — Conflict of Interest

A Council delegate shall not participate in reviewing an application, audit, or dispute involving their own node, a directly affiliated node, or a matter in which they have a material personal or organizational interest.

- Recusals are recorded in the administrative record.
- A recused delegate does not count toward the minimum independent-review requirement for that matter.

Amendment VI — Council Composition, Selection & Rotation

The Council consists of 10 seats. Each seat is filled through nomination by a participating home node followed by confirmation through the federation's established delegate-selection process.

- Delegates are mandate-bound representatives of their home nodes, not independent officeholders.
- Home nodes retain the right to recall and replace their delegates.
- Seats are subject to mandatory rotation according to a published schedule adopted by the federation.
- The public roster should identify each delegate's home node and working languages; no individual language is guaranteed a dedicated seat.

Amendment VII — Probationary Status

Probation is recognized as a temporary compliance status where a documented issue can reasonably be addressed without immediate disaffiliation.

- The Council may recommend probation but may not impose it unilaterally unless the Charter is separately amended to delegate that authority.
- A probation notice must specify the relevant issue, requested corrective action, review period, and conditions for restoration of normal status.
- The final status decision follows the applicable federated review process.

TAC Charter — Second Amendment Package

Second Amendment Package — General Assembly, Communalism, Council Democracy & Anarcho-Communist Framework

This amendment package supplements and amends the existing Charter and prior amendments. It is intended to clarify that TAC's General Assembly is the entire active membership of the Confederation, rather than a separate representative institution.

Amendment VIII — General Assembly of the Confederation

VIII.1 — Composition. The General Assembly of The Anarchist Confederation (TAC) consists of the entire active membership of the Confederation. The General Assembly is not a separate governing body standing above the membership; it is the Confederation assembled collectively.

VIII.2 — Direct Participation. Members participate directly in General Assembly deliberation and decision-making according to procedures established by this Charter. No permanent political class, party, or representative institution is required to constitute the General Assembly.

VIII.3 — Federation-Wide Matters. The General Assembly deliberates and decides matters that properly concern the Confederation as a whole, including constitutional amendments, federation-wide standards, common initiatives, confederation-wide positions, and matters expressly referred to the Assembly by this Charter.

VIII.4 — Local Autonomy. The General Assembly does not ordinarily exercise authority over matters properly belonging to an autonomous local node. Federation-wide coordination shall not be interpreted as a general power to direct local affairs.

VIII.5 — Distributed Participation. Because TAC may operate across different locations and time zones, the General Assembly may use scheduled plenary sessions, asynchronous deliberation, documented proposal periods, and transparent voting procedures. Administrative convenience shall not transfer General Assembly authority to the Supervision Council.

VIII.6 — Assembly Records. Decisions of federation-wide significance shall be recorded and made accessible to the membership, subject to legitimate privacy, security, and personal-data protections.

Amendment IX — Mandated and Recallable Delegation

IX.1 — Delegation. Where continuous or specialized administrative work is necessary, the General Assembly or another body expressly authorized by this Charter may delegate a limited mandate to a council, committee, working group, or individual delegate.

IX.2 — No Sovereignty by Delegation. Delegated authority is functional and revocable. A delegate or council does not acquire independent sovereignty by receiving a mandate.

IX.3 — Mandates. Delegates shall operate within the scope of their recorded mandate and shall report their activities to the appropriate membership body.

IX.4 — Recall. Delegates remain subject to recall according to the procedures established by this Charter and the body that appointed them.

Amendment X — Ideological and Institutional Framework

X.1 — Anarcho-Communist Principles. TAC identifies its foundational social principles with anarcho-communist commitments to voluntary association, mutual aid, communal self-management, opposition to coercive domination, and social arrangements oriented toward shared access to collectively held resources and the satisfaction of human needs.

X.2 — Communalist and Council-Based Organization. TAC incorporates communalist and council-based methods of direct assembly democracy, local self-government, confederation, mandated delegation, recallability, and coordination between autonomous communities.

X.3 — Institutional Principle. Councils, committees, and delegated bodies are instruments of collective self-management and administration. They are not independent sovereign authorities over the people or communities from which their mandates originate.

X.4 — Plurality Within the Framework. Internal disagreement, criticism, debate, and advocacy for amendment do not by themselves constitute Charter violations. Eligibility and compliance determinations should primarily concern organizational commitments and conduct relevant to the Charter rather than attempts to police private thought.

Amendment XI — Supervision Council's Constitutional Position

XI.1 — Administrative Organ. The Supervision Council is an administrative and procedural organ of TAC. It is not a second legislative chamber, executive government, or substitute for the General Assembly.

XI.2 — Limited Mandate. The Council may perform only functions authorized by the Charter or a valid confederated mandate, including directory administration, application processing, procedural certification, fact-finding, transparency administration, and external liaison within its mandate.

XI.3 — No Unilateral Federation-Wide Rulemaking. The Council may not create new binding political obligations, sanctions, membership categories, offices, or jurisdictional powers through an SOP or administrative practice alone.

XI.4 — Referral. Matters exceeding the Council's administrative mandate shall be referred to the General Assembly or other decision process expressly established by the Charter.

Amendment XII — Membership Status and Assembly Participation

XII.1 — Full Members. Full Members possess the General Assembly participation rights established by this Charter.

XII.2 — Associate Partners. Associate Partnership is a federated relationship distinct from Full Membership. Associate participation, voting, and nomination rights shall be limited to those expressly granted by the Charter or applicable confederated rules.

XII.3 — Status Clarity. Admission, probation, suspension, withdrawal, disaffiliation, and reinstatement shall identify the affected rights of the organization and its members so that no administrative body may infer additional restrictions without Charter authority.

Amendment XIII — Document Hierarchy

XIII.1. The Charter and duly ratified constitutional amendments constitute TAC's highest internal governing authority.

XIII.2. Confederation-wide bylaws or procedures adopted under valid Charter authority must conform to the Charter.

XIII.3. Supervision Council SOPs, forms, templates, and administrative practices are subordinate instruments and may implement but may not amend the Charter.

XIII.4. Local node rules govern local affairs and must comply with any binding federation-wide requirements validly established under this Charter.

Amendment XIV — Assembly Decisions and Council Deadlock

XIV.1. The Charter shall establish the quorum, notice, deliberation, and voting procedures applicable to General Assembly decisions.

XIV.2. Where the Supervision Council is authorized to decide a procedural matter and reaches a deadlock, the deadlock shall not itself create new authority. The matter shall be referred to the appropriate Assembly or other authorized process.

XIV.3. No Council chair or individual delegate shall possess an inherent casting vote unless such authority is expressly granted by the Charter.

TAC — Horizontalism Amendment Package

Amendment XV — Horizontal Organization

XV.1 — Foundational Principle. The Anarchist Confederation is organized horizontally rather than through a permanent hierarchy of command. No member, local node, delegate, committee, or council possesses inherent authority over another member or autonomous node.

XV.2 — Source of Authority. Authority within TAC derives from voluntary association, collective participation, the Charter, and expressly delegated mandates. No office or administrative position possesses authority beyond the scope granted to it.

XV.3 — Coordination Rather Than Command. Confederation-wide coordination shall operate through cooperation, deliberation, mandated delegation, mutual accountability, and transparent administration rather than unilateral command.

XV.4 — Delegation Is Not Supremacy. Delegating a function to a council, committee, or delegate does not transfer permanent political sovereignty to that body. Delegated responsibilities remain limited, reviewable, recallable, and subject to the authority from which the mandate originates.

XV.5 — No Permanent Ruling Layer. TAC shall not establish a permanent political class, hereditary office, entrenched executive authority, or other institution whose members possess inherent authority over the Confederation.

XV.6 — Practical Coordination. Horizontal organization does not require every member to personally administer every matter. Where scale, distance, specialization, or continuity requires delegation, TAC may establish limited administrative mandates while preserving direct membership authority, transparency, rotation, and recall.

Amendment XVI — Horizontal Relationship Between Members, Nodes, Assembly, and Council

XVI.1. Members participate directly in the General Assembly and retain autonomy in their voluntary local associations.

XVI.2. Local nodes coordinate horizontally with one another and do not become subordinate administrative districts merely by participating in TAC.

XVI.3. The General Assembly is the entire active membership acting collectively on matters properly concerning the Confederation. It is not a superior political class or separate representative chamber.

XVI.4. The Supervision Council is a delegated coordination and administration mechanism. Its existence does not establish a hierarchy above the General Assembly or autonomous nodes.

XVI.5. Where disagreement exists between local autonomy and a proposed federation-wide action, the applicable jurisdiction shall be determined from the Charter rather than from the institutional status of the body proposing the action.

Amendment XVII — Constitutional Statement of TAC's Organizational Synthesis

TAC combines anarcho-communist social principles with communalist and council-based methods of direct self-government, confederal coordination, recallable delegation, and horizontal organization. These principles are to be interpreted together: social self-management, direct participation, local autonomy, confederation, and delegated administration are complementary components of TAC's constitutional model.
